

all network sizes use random, dense weights